Mayoral Proclamation Toolkit

How to Request a Proclamation from an Elected Official

This toolkit provides you with all the resources you may need to have your Mayor, Governor, or other elected official, to proclaim December 3, 2019, as GivingTuesday, a “Day of Giving,” in your city.

What is a Proclamation?

Proclamations are typically issued by a mayor (or governor, or other elected official) to recognize the importance of a community event, significant achievements by community members, or to signal a city’s role in significant national events.

Proclamations may be read at a City Council meeting, or at a community event being recognized, depending entirely on the schedule of the Mayor. Proclamations are often posted on the city’s website. Original signed proclamations will be provided to the requesting party (sometimes they must be received in person at city offices).

Why Request a Proclamation for Your Community?

- Opportunity to meet/greet/photo with your Mayor and/or other city representation
- Become a GivingTuesday Ambassador for your city and help establish GivingTuesday as a national day of giving
- Help your city celebrate philanthropy, volunteerism and community service
- Get your city government more involved in local causes

What GivingTuesday Can Offer Your City

- The chance for citizens to give back to their community and local causes
- Build and strengthen partnerships across sectors
- Tell your city’s giving stories to new audiences and bring attention to philanthropic commitments during the holiday season
Steps to Request a Proclamation

1. Visit your local government’s website. Some city and state websites will have a section on “How to request a Mayoral Proclamation.” Some will even have an online mayoral proclamation request section on their website. If they do not have an online request section, send an email request to your mayor. Most mayors will have their contact information, including their email address, on the City’s official web page. You can use the sample outreach email in this toolkit.

2. Plan ahead. Proclamations requested at least two months in advance have the best chance of being completed and provided to the requestor by a specific date. Make sure to reach out well in advance of GivingTuesday.

3. Provide a draft. If the response is positive from your Mayor’s office, they may request you to send a draft of a sample proclamation. We’ve included a sample draft proclamation in this packet for you to edit and send.

4. Celebrate your city. Your local government office may invite you to attend a meeting to accept the proclamation on behalf of GivingTuesday. This is a great press opportunity and way to bring your community together to celebrate generosity. Plan a community event and invite other GivingTuesday partners and local members of the press to take part as well. You can also use this as a moment to announce and kick off your campaign.

5. Share your proclamation. Share your press release, photos, videos and other moments from receiving your proclamation with the global GivingTuesday community by posting on social media using the hashtag GivingTuesday. The GivingTuesday team can also promote your civic leadership on our social media if you email us your photos, announcements and copy of your proclamation at info@givingtuesday.org.

Subject: GIVINGTUESDAY: THE GLOBAL GIVING MOVEMENT COMES TO [INSERT NAME OF CITY/STATE]

Dear [NAME],

This year, on Tuesday, December 3, 2019, we are celebrating GivingTuesday, a global generosity movement that’s unleashing the power of people and organizations to transform their communities and the world. In just seven years, GivingTuesday has radically changed how we think about generosity and showed just how much power communities everywhere have to create change.

Over the years, local mayors and elected officials around the country have supported the movement in their area. Mayors from Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, New York and many other smaller cities and towns have formally endorsed GivingTuesday. The White House has also publicly supported GivingTuesday, along with international leaders at every level of government.

Last year, millions of people in almost every country came together to give back and support the causes they believe in. Over $400 million was raised online - in just one day- to benefit a tremendously broad range of nonprofits, and much more was given in volunteer hours, donations of food and clothing, and acts of kindness.

As a GivingTuesday partner from the City of [INSERT CITY/STATE NAME], we would like to respectfully request that the City of [INSERT CITY/STATE NAME] officially proclaim December 3, 2019 as GivingTuesday. The City of [INSERT CITY/STATE NAME] can really help to make GivingTuesday something that will change the way we think about giving and community service for generations to come.

The campaign provides a framework and ideas for people to choose their own best way to contribute to their communities and will provide the citizens of [INSERT CITY/STATE NAME] with an opportunity to share their giving story.

For additional information, please visit the website at www.givingtuesday.org.

It would truly be an honor to have the City of [INSERT CITY/STATE NAME] formally proclaim GivingTuesday as a day of giving. Thank you for considering our request.
